

KUROPATKIN MATCHES JAPANESE STRATEGY

SECRETARY TAFT GOES TO PANAMA TO STRAIGHTEN OUT MUDDLE

TOKIO'S VERSION OF FIGHT

Figures on Japanese Losses Are Yet Incomplete.

TOKIO, October 19.—No reports from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters were received either last night or to-day, and as a consequence it is assumed here that inactivity has followed the abortive Russian assaults of Monday night.

The Russian concentration in front of the armies of Generals Oku and Nodzu (the left and center respectively), on Monday, reported by Field Marshal Oyama, created the impression here that the Russians were planning to assume the aggressive and that another great battle was imminent, but it is now thought that General Kuropatkin is merely seeking to protect his right and rear in order to gain time to withdraw his army across the Hun river, because it is believed that it will be impossible for him either to move aggressively against the Japanese or to hold his position on the Shakhe river. Figures showing the Japanese losses since October 10 are still incomplete as is the count of the guns and other Russian property captured by the Japanese. Figures showing the losses to the Russians are likewise incomplete.

There is a popular impression here that affairs at Port Arthur are reaching a crisis and it is believed that the end is only a question of days.

RUMOR DISCREDITED.
LONDON, October 19.—At the offices here of the Cunard Steamship Company the rumor published in America that the steamer Slavonia had sunk off the Spanish coast is entirely discredited.

The Slavonia it is pointed out passed Gibraltar October 11 and the officials cannot see how she could be anywhere in the neighborhood of the Spanish coast. The vessel is due at New York October 22.

DICKIE'S SHIPYARDS WILL REMAIN HERE.

Reported Transference of Extensive Plant to Eureka is Denied By President.

A telegram from Eureka published in the morning papers states that J. W. Dickie, owner of the shipyards in Oakland harbor at the intersection of Harrison street, is negotiating for the purchase of the Bendixen ship-building plant at that place.

Mr. Dickie was seen by a TRIBUNE reporter to-day and asked if the negotiations in question were in progress and whether they meant the abandonment of the plant which he has maintained for a long time in this city.

"There is nothing definite regarding the purchase of a plant for ship-building in Eureka, yet," said Mr. Dickie. "I have simply been figuring on it. I don't know yet what will come of it. Shipbuilding is moving up the coast. We cannot compete with them up there in the building of steam schooners, large wooden ships and the like, because lumber is cheaper up there and labor, too, than it is down here.

AMPUERO MAY BE A BIGAMIST.

Two Women Claim One Man as Husband in Court.

"Madam, you are either a wronged woman or you are crazy. Your story will be investigated and if it should prove to be true, this man you call your husband is guilty of bigamy."

Police Judge Smith addressed these words to Mrs. Kjerestine Jacobsen, on trial for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Bessie Ampuero, in the Police Court this morning and then continued the case in order that investigation might be made of the remarkable story the defendant had just completed reciting on the witness stand.

Back in 1894 in the little town of Pleasanton, Alameda county Mrs. Kjerestine Jacobsen, a native of Denmark, then young and pretty, married J. B. Ampuero, so she testified this morning, by contract. They agreed to live as man and wife, so Mrs. Jacobsen says, on October 6, 1904, or a year before the marriage contract law became invalid. According to the woman's story they lived together about eight years, a portion of the time in Pleasanton, San Jose and in San Francisco.

Then Mrs. Jacobsen, as she desires to be known, was deserted by her contract husband, so she alleges. The pretty face and figure of Mrs. Bessie Ampuero that now is, was the cause, so Mrs. Jacobsen declares, of her trouble. Mrs. Jacobsen says that her contract husband grew tired of her as she grew old and wrinkles made their way over her face marring her beauty and causing her to lose that charm which held Ampuero to her. She says that about three years ago she was deserted by her alleged contract husband and forced to care for herself and daughter, the child of a previous union.

"I have sought to have my husband come back to me, but he has preferred to remain with this other woman," declared Mrs. Jacobsen. He is my contract husband; that I can prove by the testimony of many witnesses living in towns where he and I used to reside together.

When asked by Police Judge Smith for the names of some of those who knew of her alleged relations with Ampuero, Mrs. Jacobsen responded with:

CENTER ARMY'S STORY

Japanese Were Satisfied With Stopping Russian Advance.

WITH THE RUSSIAN CENTER ARMY, October 18, by Courier to Mukden, via Peking, October 19.—The fighting, which lulled for a time on October 15, was renewed on October 16, when the Russians holding positions on the north bank of the Shakhe river continually exchanged an artillery fire with the Japanese.

The hardest fighting was in the center where two regiments of Russian infantry made a desperate attack upon the night of October 16, capturing two Japanese batteries of eight guns each. It was an expensive undertaking, however, as the Russians lost a great many men. The colonel commanding was dangerously wounded. The Japanese were compelled to destroy their ammunition.

The fighting all that night was most severe, both sides suffering heavily. During the progress of the infantry fight the artillery kept up a bombardment.

On the morning of October 17 the Russian center held positions twelve miles south of Mukden on the main wagon road, while the left had fallen farther back to the northeast. Just before noon the Japanese guns found the main road and a village, shelling them with shrapnel and Shimose powder contact shells, but without doing any great damage.

Toward evening the battle lulled, but during the night the Russian center made two combined infantry and artillery attacks which resulted in the securing of new positions about half a mile in advance. These attacks were made during a down-pour of rain and were successful in giving the Russians possession of a small stretch of the ground over which they retired last week.

To-day a long line of wounded is being taken to the hospitals at Mukden through a cold and drizzling rain and over a road which is covered with mud knee deep.

The Japanese to-day confined themselves to throwing occasional volleys of shrapnel at the Russian batteries. While the fight continues, it is a small affair compared with that of last week. The fighting now is entirely on the plain.

The Japanese apparently are satisfied with having stopped the Russian advance and with having brought their own line to the Shakhe river.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE TWO JAPANESE GUNS

ST. PETERSBURG, October 18.—General Sakharoff telegraphs at midday that the Japanese are concentrating at Linshupu, west of the railroad. A detachment of Russian cavalry reconnoitered last night in the vicinity of Shakhe, captured two Japanese guns with no losses to themselves.

RUSSIANS GUARDING RAILROAD ESSENTIAL TO THEIR EXISTENCE.

TO RAISE REVOLT IN CHINA

Pirates Band Together to Start an Insurrection.

SHANGHAI, October 19.—According to well-informed Chinese, the Weiße Societies of bandits in the western part of the province of Kwangtung are amalgamating with the object of raising a revolt in Canton and other parts of the province. It is believed that these bandits have allied themselves with the West river pirates.

It was the pirates in the West river, near Canton, who, as reported in a dispatch from Shanghai, attacked the British steamers Pak Kang and Hoi Ho on the night of October 17, causing the British authorities to send a gunboat to the scene of the attack.

DENOUNCE ACTION OF UNION.

SAN DIEGO, October 19.—The Golden Hill Improvement Club, one of the leading business organizations of the city, at its meeting last night, passed strong resolutions denouncing the action of the Plumbers' Union in expelling Charles Tichborne on account of his membership in the National Guard. The resolution characterizes the union's action as "un-American and unloyal to the United States."

WALMER CASTLE, October 19.—Lady Curzon is progressing so favorably that hereafter only one bulletin will be given out daily.

ADMIRAL IS DEAD.
LONDON, October 19.—A Admiral Van Sittart is dead. He was born July 21, 1818 and retired in 1873.

HONORS IN WAR GAME ARE EVEN UP.

Results of Ten Days' Fight Show Both Forces Are Evenly Matched.

With both armies exhausted by the long continued and desperate fighting and by roads made impassable and streams bank-full from recent torrential rains, there has been a lull in the active operations along the Shakhe river. To-day's dispatches say that yesterday passed quietly and the brief advice bearing on the situation as existing to-day indicate that the battle has not been resumed. The Russians still hold the important position of Lone Tree Hill around which fighting of the most desperate character centered, and General Sakharoff reports that their left flank has been slightly advanced. A veil is drawn over the general situation but the net result of the tremendous battle seems to be that Oyama, while effectively checking the Russian advance has been unable to follow it up with a vital blow, and has himself been stayed in his attempts to materially advance his position. A dispatch from Mukden says that the Japanese appear to be slowly falling back but Sakharoff reports to St. Petersburg that they are concentrating at Sinchinpu west of the railroad. Kuropatkin is strengthening his right and the dispatches indicate that the battle will be resumed as soon as the roads dry. A Tokyo dispatch says that no advices from the front were received last night or to-day.

BALTIC FLEET TO DIVIDE

Will Take Ninety Days to Reach Scene of War.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19, 4:50 p. m.—The Baltic fleet will divide, part of it going by way of the Suez canal and the remainder around the Cape of Good Hope. Captain Jakovloff, formerly of the battleship Petropavlovsk, who is now here, explains that the delays in getting the warships through the canal make a division of the fleet advisable, the cape route being only a fortnight longer with coaling at sea instead of in port. He believes the voyage to the Far East will be made in ninety days.

MINE TWISTED BY EARTHQUAKE.

TIMBERS IN SHAFT ARE TURNED COMPLETELY AROUND.

SAN DIEGO, October 19.—In unwatering the Stonewall mine, the workmen have discovered a peculiar result of the earthquake some time ago. The mine shaft has been twisted so that the timbers are pulled around to opposite sides of the shaft from their original positions and huge boulders have been dropped in the shaft and must be dynamited in order to be removed.

NO PORT ARTHUR NEWS.
CHE FOO, October 19.—Nothing new concerning the operations at Port Arthur reached Che Foo to-day.

Residents of Afton are greatly excited as the result of the visit of secret service men of the Government who are said to be gathering evidence against Mormons who, it is alleged, are practicing polygamy.

VICTORY SOBERS RUSSIANS

Kuropatkin's Successes are Taken Calmly.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19 (1:45 p. m.)—The flush of enthusiasm yesterday evening over the capture of Lone Tree Hill and Shakhie, the repulse of the attacks of the Japanese left and the hard drubbing given General Yamada, with the capture of fourteen additional guns, has given way this morning to a calmer and more sober appraisal of these partial successes. There is no official confirmation of the report that General Kuropatkin has resumed a genuine offensive. Rather, the general Japanese offensive has exhausted itself and that the position of the armies is now a sort of deadlock, with the country rendered so sodden by the heavy rain as to compel a temporary suspension of general operations. A complete veil hides the movements east, but both Kuropatkin and Sakharoff's reports say there were no collisions on that portion of the battle ground Monday or Tuesday. Field Marshal Oyama evidently considers that Lone Tree Hill, from which Kuropatkin could pivot a turning movement against his left, to be of vital importance, as both Sunday and Monday nights, the latter during a terrific storm, made desperate efforts to recapture it, accompanying the assaults with demonstrative attacks against other points. But all the efforts failed. Neither Kuropatkin nor Sakharoff, in the dispatches given out this morning, send details of the defeat of Yamada's column and the capture of the Japanese guns. Pictures are painted by the war correspondents of the shelterless troops bivouacking in the cold rain, the roads converted into quagmires and the streams flooded. The military critics are not yet satisfied that Oyama is to relinquish the offensive, expressing the opinion that he may still try to break through the Russian center in order to compel Kuropatkin to retire to the line of the Hun river, unless, as they believe, he has become convinced that the superiority of the Russian numbers and reserves makes his withdrawal to the line of the Taitze river advisable. General Gelsman asserts positively that, up to yesterday Kuropatkin had not brought anything like all the regiments of his reserves into action, and the number of fresh units behind which his battered troops could reform accounts for Kuropatkin's ability to resume the offensive. The line of battle thus far engaged, counting westward from the east, General Gelsman says, comprised General Hilderberg's Seventeenth European corps, parts of General Soboleff's Sixth East Siberian corps, portions of General Stouchevsky's Tenth corps, General Meyendorff's First European corps and General Zaslavitch's Second Siberian corps. The extreme Russian left, which essayed a turning movement and was met with success, according to Russian accounts, when the situation at the right center compelled its withdrawal, consisted of General Ivanoff's Third corps and General Zarubaleff's Fourth East Siberian corps, the Third corps bearing the brunt of the assaults on the group of passes of the Tumin range.

Therefore, two complete corps, General Stakelberg's First corps and General Dembowaki's Fifth Siberian corps, and part of five other corps are still unused. The dispatch from a correspondent of the Associated Press at Mukden, filed this morning, saying that there was no fighting yesterday and no fighting during the night, indicates that the Japanese are retreating, as the light of fire was seen against the heavens, possibly showing that they were burning their stores. The correspondent also reports that a resumption of the battle is probable as soon as the roads permit, the Russians being everywhere in close touch with the Japanese. The Associated Press learns that the reports representing Emperor Nicholas as being despondent and depressed are far from the truth. General Veltchko, who saw him Monday night, declares that while the Emperor is greatly grieved at the terrible sacrifice of life, he is firmly resolved as ever that the war must be prosecuted to a successful conclusion and that he is by no means satisfied that Kuropatkin, in whom he expressed the fullest confidence, would not be able to turn the tables on Oyama before the present engagement is ended. By General Veltchko, who returns at once to the front, the Emperor sent a personal message to Kuropatkin, renewing his expression of faith and confidence and announcing his readiness to send such reinforcements of men and guns as Kuropatkin might ask for.

AMPUERO MAY BE A BIGAMIST.

A long list, many of whom will be summoned to appear and give testimony on October 22, the date to which the case was continued. On her own behalf, Mrs. Bessie Ampuero stated that she was married to J. B. Ampuero about three years ago. She declared that she has a marriage license to prove this fact, so Judge Smith stated, this would not save Ampuero from arrest on a charge of bigamy should Mrs. Jacobsen establish proof that they were married by contract previous to 1895 and this she announced she will do.

The arrest of Mrs. Jacobsen occurred on October 8th when she was taken into custody on a charge of discharging the peace preferred by Mrs. Ampuero. It is alleged that Mrs. Jacobsen made her appearance in the front yard of the Ampuero residence at 1216 Clay street and commenced to pick flowers. Mrs. Ampuero ordered her away, but Mrs. Jacobsen replied:

"This is my husband's house and yard and his flowers, so I can pick all I want to."

Then followed a wordy war between the claimants of Ampuero and afterwards the arrest of Mrs. Jacobsen.

Mrs. Ampuero says that Mrs. Jacobsen has been following herself and husband about from place to place and will not let them live in peace. She claims that they were forced to leave San Francisco on account of Mrs. Jacobsen's persistent attentions and that life for them has been made miserable. The man over whom the women are disputing possession refused to be interviewed. He kept close in the company of the woman said to be wife No. 2 and when Judge Smith had delivered the words quoted above, he hurriedly left the court room in his company, steadfastly refusing to say a word.

NEW FERRY TO BE A FLYER.

RUN TO SAN FRANCISCO WILL BE MADE IN FOURTEEN MINUTES.

The ferry boat which is now on the ways in Dickie's ship yard in the harbor at the intersection of Harrison street, and which is being built for the Key Route ferry is to be a veritable "flyer."

When placed on the run between this city and San Francisco, her schedule time between wharves will be fourteen minutes. This will mean a clipping of eight minutes of the running time on the present schedule, which is twenty-two minutes.

The new ferry boat is to be finished in mahogany and it is intended to afford more accommodations to passengers than do the boats now on the run.

The date of launching of the new craft has been indefinitely postponed owing to the non-arrival of machinery from New York.

TAFT GOES TO PANAMA

President Sends His Secretary to Settle Trouble.

WASHINGTON, October 19.—The President has instructed Secretary of War Taft to proceed at an early date to Panama to confer with the President of that republic with a view to composing the differences that have arisen between the two countries.

The following letter has been sent by the President to the Secretary of War after a conference with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of War with respect to conditions in Panama:

"White House, October 19, 1904.—Sir: By executive order of May 9, I placed under your immediate supervision the work of the Isthmian Canal Commission both in the construction of the canal and in the exercise of such governmental powers as it seemed necessary for the United States to exercise under the treaty with the republic of Panama in the canal strip. There is ground for believing that in the execution of the rights conferred by the treaty the people of Panama have been unduly alarmed at the effect of the establishment of a government in the canal strip by the commission. Apparently they fear lest the effect be to create out of part of their territory a competing and independent community which shall injuriously affect their business, reduce their revenues and diminish their prestige as a nation. The United States is about to confer upon the people of the State of Panama a very great benefit by the expenditure of millions of dollars in the construction of the canal. But this fact must not blind us to the importance of executing the authority given us under the treaty with Panama, so as to avoid creating any suspicion, however unfounded, of our intentions as to the future. We have not the slightest intention of establishing an independent colony in the middle of the State of Panama, or of exercising any greater governmental functions than are necessary to enable us conveniently and safely to construct, maintain and operate the canal, under the rights given us by the treaty. Least of all do we desire to interfere with the business and prosperity of the people of Panama. However far a just construction of the treaty might enable us to go, all the exigencies of the case require us, in asserting the equivalent of sovereignty over the canal strip, to be our full intention that the rights which we exercise, shall be exercised with all proper care for the honor and interest of the people of Panama.

"The exercise of such powers as are given us by the treaty within the geographical boundaries of the Republic of Panama may easily, if a real sympathy for both, the present and future welfare of the people of Panama is not shown, create distrust of the American Government. This would seriously interfere with the success of our great project in that country. It is of the utmost importance that those who are ultimately responsible for the policy pursued should have at first hand as trustworthy information as can be obtained in respect to the conditions existing in Panama and the attitude and real interest of the people of that State. After a conference with the Secretary of State and yourself, I have concluded that it will be of great advantage if you can visit the Isthmus of Panama in person and hold a conference with the President and other governmental authorities of the Republic of Panama. You are authorized in doing this to take with you such persons as you desire, familiar with the conditions in the Isthmus, who may aid you with their counsel. The earlier you are able to make this visit, the better. The Secretary of State will instruct the United States Minister at Panama to render you every assistance in his power, and the Governor of the canal strip, General Davis, will of course, do the same thing. You will advise the President of the Republic what the policy of this Government is to be, and assure him that it is not the purpose of the United States to take advantage of the rights conferred upon it by the treaty to interfere with the welfare and prosperity of the State of Panama, or of the cities of Colon and Panama. You will make due report of the result of your visit on your return.

"Very truly yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

RUSSIANS ASSUME OFFENSIVE

Indications Point to Kuropatkin Making Forward Movement.

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19.—The correspondent are sending voluminous details of the horrors of the capture of Lone Tree Hill. The slopes and summit are covered with mangled remains. It turns out that in the Twentieth and Forty-first Japanese regiments which made the defense of the crest, every Japanese officer killed had a compass on his person.

The dispatch from General Sakharoff dated noon to-day confirms the Associated Press previous advices saying there was no fighting last night. The general reports that the Japanese are concentrating at Sinchinpu, but the most important information is the fact that the Russian right is being extended westward, the center of the right being now facing Sinchinpu. This may have been necessary in order to protect Kuropatkin's right, or if the offensive is imminent, for the purpose, in conjunction with an advance of the center, or crumpling up both of General Oku's flanks and driving him toward the Shakhie river. Other signs of the offensive are noticed. There has been a slight forward movement of the left upon the Bentsiautze roads from Mukden and Pishum. No big movement, however, is possible pending the drying of the roads.

Details of how a detachment of mounted Cossacks accomplished a daring exploit last night, raiding south from Shakhie, actually penetrating the Japanese lines and dragging back two Japanese field guns, have not been given out. Strange to say, the general staff still says it is absolutely without information of the Yamada affair.

Other Russian correspondents mention a report that the Japanese are falling back toward their Yen-tai line. One correspondent says it is persistently reported that three Japanese battalions are surrounded on a hill by General Rennenkampf and that they are momentarily expecting to surrender.

Another correspondent reports that during an advance of the left early last week, forty Japanese with five officers were surrounded in a Chinese village, but only five of them surrendered—the remainder committed suicide.

The village of Maikung is reported to have been destroyed by the fire of a Russian mortar battery posted in the Shakhie valley.

The hospitals at Mukden continue to be crowded to overflowing. The wounded are being sent north as rapidly as possible by train.

The change in the situation at the front to-day was reflected on the bourse, 4's advancing 7/4 point.

JAPANESE ATTACK LONE TREE HILL

ST. PETERSBURG, October 19.—The Emperor has received from General Kuropatkin, under date of October 18, the following dispatch:

"During the night the Japanese attacked our advance positions at Lone Tree Hill, but they were repulsed. No reports have been received of any other engagements. Everything was quiet at all our positions up to 10 o'clock this morning. Rein fell all night and the roads have been greatly damaged.

The fastidious girl secures a number of wide pastebord ribbon from the dry goods store and keeps her neck and belt ribbons smoothly rolled over them.

Secretary of War subsequent to United States held a conference with the receipt of this letter and the Secretary of War invited the Minister to accompany him on his trip to Panama. It is impossible to say exactly when the Secretary of War can leave for Panama, but probably on November 14th."

REPORT ON INDIAN FRAUDS

Condition of Once Noble Redman is Described.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., October 19.—

In his address to the twenty-second annual Indian conference, which was called to order here today, Charles J. Bonaparte, member of the Board of Indian Commissioners, who was chosen permanent chairman, quoted at length from the report made to the Secretary of the Interior last March by the special commission, of which he is a member, appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the allotments of land belonging to the five civilized tribes of the Indian Territory. Referring to the condemnation visited in that report upon the white men, who, it was held, had taken advantage of certain regulations adopted by the Dawes commission in the selection of lands to defraud the Indians of their rightful property, Mr. Bonaparte said it would have been quite impossible for an impartial and reasonable and definite conclusion from the facts brought to the knowledge of the special commission.

In conclusion Mr. Bonaparte said: "I am not overcharitable to official sins, but the investigation I conducted last winter has convinced me that our President and our Secretary of the Interior are earnest and unselfish friends of the Indians and, on the whole, I found few public servants to condemn and comparatively few venal faults."

George E. Whittlesey of the Board of Indian Commissioners, gave a resume of the year's work among the Indians. He said:

"Nearly 4500 leases of allotted land have been made within the year, aggregating 2,000,000 acres, at rates varying from 3 cents to $3 an acre. Under the law using the sale of inherited lands the Indian is parting with his inherited estate at the rate of about $3000 a year. Over 160,000 acres were disposed of in fifteen months ending last June, at an average of nearly $17 per acre. The lands are bought by speculators rather than those seeking homes. While the prices secured are reasonable, the purchase money, by one wife or another, is rapidly transferred to the white man's pockets, and more often than any other way by the route of dissipation."

Continuing, Mr. Whittlesey said: "A beginning has at last been made toward furnishing some permanent relief for the unfortunate Pimas, who were deprived of their ancient water rights in the Gila river by white settlements along the streams."

He adds:

"It is well known that the Pimas have in recent years been reduced from self-supporting farmers to hungry paupers."

The enrollment of Indians in all schools has been brought up to 49,478, an increase of 1087 pupils over last year. The average attendance is 25,194, an increase of 722 over last year. The five civilized tribes are not included in the above figures.

The great need of education in the Indian Territory is among the 50,000 unschooled white children and thousands of freedmen. The control grows even more serious, for after March, 1906, tribal governments must close, tribal buildings must be disposed of, tribal funds distributed and tribal relations cease, but Indian lands will be non-taxable. What will then become of the 15,000 Indian children for whose education $460,000 of tribal money is now "expended"?

BOY BURGLAR ARRESTED

HARRY BREWIS CONFESSES HE BROKE INTO FURNITURE STORE.

Fourteen-year-old Harry Brewis has been arrested and a twelve-year-old youth named Newall is being sought for by the police for having stolen a mandolin, a twenty-two rifle and some drills from the second-hand furniture store conducted at 447 San Pablo avenue by Frank Griben and Charles Hill. Brewis has confessed to the theft and according to his story, he and Newall went into the store last night just before closing time and hid themselves under some matting. When the proprietors had gone home the pair of youthful burglars came out from hiding and made away with the articles mentioned.

The father of the Brewis boy came before Chief of Police Hodgkins this morning and stated that his son had been injured by a fall in his babyhood and ever since that had been weak-minded and easily led by other boys. The father acknowledged that his son had difficulties with the police before and he requested that the lad be sent to some reformatory institution.

ARMIES WILL FIGHT ON PLAINS

3 p. m.—(Via Fusan, October 19.)—The Japanese advance is ten miles south of Mukden. The Russians have built heavy defenses two miles south of the Hun river, where they are expected to make a stand. There are no natural defenses at that point.

The Japanese report that the battle has been the most severe yet fought on the plains, where the Russian forces consisted of the first army corps and the fifth and sixth Siberian corps. The only defenses were infantry trenches, which were hastily made.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF HORSE STEALING

A jury in the case of James S. Stryker, accused of stealing a horse valued at $450 from James Corley, acquitted him after a trial, in which Stryker pleaded that he was mentally deranged through excessive drink at the time he took the animal. The prisoner was defended by Attorney Tom Bradley and District Attorney John J. Allen prosecuted the case for the people. The jury, in bringing in its verdict, was not willing to have Stryker punished for an offense which, it believed, was done while not himself, notwithstanding the fact that drunkenness is not acknowledged a good legal defense for crime.

VESSEL POUNDS ON SHORE

San Francisco Craft Wrecked on Northern Coast.

PORTLAND, Ore., October 19.—A special to the "Telegram" from Eugene, Ore., reports the schooner Alice Kimball, from San Francisco, ashore one mile south of the mouth of Siuslaw river. It is believed the vessel will be a total wreck. The schooner arrived off the mouth of the river on Saturday night and anchored, awaiting a towboat to take her into Florence, where she was to load lumber. During the night a terrific gale blew the vessel ashore. The crew of seven men swam ashore, secured a row-boat and with great difficulty rescued the owner, George Martin, and his wife, who were on board the ill-fated vessel. The schooner is fast breaking up. It is said she carried no insurance.

FRONT OF ARMY IS CHANGING

LONDON, October 19, 5:30 p. m.—A dispatch to the Japanese legation at Tokio today says:

"Field Marshal Oyama reports that on Tuesday the enemy seemed gradually decreasing his force in the direction of the right army, only small detachments continuing activity. The enemy beaten at Bessha is retreating northwards. "In the direction of the central army the enemy last night made assaults, but they were repulsed and today there have been only occasional exchanges of cannonades. "In front of the left army the enemy is occasionally firing."

SAVE THE JUICE FROM PINE-APPLES.

Not every woman who appreciates the pineapple at its full value, realizes that she is wasting a goodly portion of the fruit when she throws away the cores and peelings. These, however, chopped fine and cooked to extract the juice, yield a goodly amount of flavor, excellent as a foundation for sauces, sherbets, and even for jellies.

Again, not every woman who realizes this knows how to care for the juice of the solitary plines she uses throughout the season, since one alone would be insufficient for any of the purposes mentioned, or if more there may be no incentive to use the usually discarded portions at the time.

Whenever a pineapple is used, then, whether one or a dozen, chop fine the peeling (which should first be well washed), eyes and core, and simmer slowly in water enough to cover. When every particle of flavor is extracted, strain it, add sugar to taste and heat again, adding in one exactly as you would a fruit. One pineapple core and peeling will fill a pint can with juice of sufficiently full flavor to serve as the foundation for a delicious sherbet; or it may be still further reduced, making it strong enough for other purposes. This canned juice, too, may be saved until apples are in market, when combined with apples a delightful jelly will result. The otherwise discarded portions of three pineapples, in conjunction with a half peck of apples, will provide a daintily flavored jelly, which will be a revelation to the housekeeper who tries it for the first time.

To remove oil paint from wood mix a quart of a bushel of quick lime with a pound of soda and a little water till it is about as thick as cream. Spread this on the paint and let it remain for about an hour, keeping it damp all the time. It will then be found that the paint may easily be washed off with soap and water.

STUDENT IS CATTLE THIEF

Sells Heifer to Butcher
For $10 and Keeps
It.

BERKELEY, October 19.—A well-known young man who represented himself as being a student at the State University, stole a heifer from the Louis Fear ranch on Hopkins street this morning and driving it to butcher-laws, sold it to U. M. Slater for $10. The thief cut the wire fence on the ranch and made away with the animal undetected.

While Slater did not observe the fellow very closely, believing that he was in a legitimate transaction, he noticed the man wore a State University pin in a legitimate transaction, he noticed that the animal had purchased had been stolen, he offered to refund the money to Fear.

HAYS LOSES HIS POSITION.

FORMER SOUTHERN PACIFIC DES-
POT FORCED OUT OF GRAND TRUNK.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—Charles M. Hays, whose brief and inglorious reign as President of the Southern Pacific Company is still remembered with acrimony and stomach disturbances in California, has made another spectacular exit from an important railroad position.

When Hays came here he left the Grand Trunk Railroad and when he was forced out of the presidency of the Southern Pacific, the Grand Trunk people took him back, giving him the position of second vice-president and general manager. A dispatch from Montreal says he has now resigned this position. The impression prevails here that he was forced out because of self-sufficient arrogance and his attempts to dominate over the Canadian government authorities.

The Dominion government has a plan to subsidize the construction of a new road across the continent to be known as the Grand Trunk Pacific, and has entered into an arrangement with the Grand Trunk Company to carry out the scheme. The building of the new road which will cost the Government of Canada $112,000,000, and which is to be turned over to the Grand Trunk, is one of the main issues upon which the present election is being fought, and November 3 next is being looked forward to with profound anxiety by both the Liberal party, now in power, and the Conservatives. In the midst of this anxiety comes the resignation of Hays.

What has brought it about is mere conjecture, as far as has been learned as yet. It is assumed here that some trouble has arisen in connection with the Pacific extension of the Grand Trunk, and there is fear that the project may fail. Hays was the most conspicuous figure in making the Pacific Coast plan. It is declared by many that Hays has fallen out with Sir Wilfrid Laurier over details of the scheme.

Railroad men who came in contact with Hays when he had everybody connected with the Southern Pacific jumping with uncertainty as to whether Hays forced himself to the front to such an extent that the Grand Trunk people were compelled to get rid of him or see their transcontinental railroad project fail to the ground.

Hays is a man of despotism, temper, enormous conceit and little knowledge of practical railroad. He is neither an engineer nor an operator. He was first a telegraph operator who climbed up through the clerical route. His harsh, dictatorial manners make him cordially detested wherever he goes, and the host of enemies he made in this city are chuckling at his second downfall.

RAILROAD FOR NEVADA.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WILL THREAD MINERAL BELT WITH LINE.

RENO, Nevada, October 19.—From sources the reliability of which cannot be questioned, it has been learned that the Carson and Colorado Railway, extending three hundred miles from Moundhouse, Nevada to Keeler, California, and owned by the Southern Pacific, is to be converted into a standard gauge, with first-class passenger and freight rolling stock. The material has already been ordered and active work is to begin at once. The undertaking will involve the expenditure of several million dollars, as the line traverses the greatest mineral belt of Nevada, the wonderful development of which makes the change imperative.

The movement has been under consideration for several months and frequent trips of inspection have been made over the line by the general officials of the company located at San Francisco. When interviewed this morning in this city General Manager Adler declined to discuss the matter, saying that the development of the country might require great changes on the part of the company, but refusing to say what those changes might be.

For several weeks the Carson and Colorado has been absolutely swamped with freight consigned from San Francisco and Reno to Tonopah and Goldfield. The rapid development of these wonderful camps and their enormous increase of population within the last few months has stimulated shipping to a degree that the Carson and Colorado is not equal to and the quantity of ore that the two camps offer for shipment are many times greater than the capacity of the road.

It is also unofficially stated that the Tonopah road, ninety miles in length, connecting with the Carson and Colorado at Sodaville, and running into Tonopah, will be changed at once from a narrow to a standard gauge line. Several days ago the Tonopah Railway Company ordered $10,000 tons, which, it is believed, are to be used in relaying the line.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., October 19.—Lee You, the alleged Portland Chinese merchant who testified that he was a native of this country and was released last week by United States Court Commissioner Williams from the charge of being illegally in the United States, has been arrested by Deputy Immigration Inspector Ferrandini. The inspector will move for a new hearing and may seek to carry the case to the Federal District Court on a writ of certiorari. He maintains that personal testimony of the accused, such as was given by Lee You, is insufficient evidence in immigration cases.

RUNAWAY IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, October 19.—A wagon belonging to Frank Fagan, an electrician, was struck by one of the North Berkeley electric cars late yesterday afternoon, and badly demolished. Frank Steele, who was driving the vehicle, was thrown out and severely bruised.

Steele declares that the motor-man failed to ring his gong, and that he was run down while driving along the track. Although he was thrown heavily to the ground, he clung to the reins, and succeeded in stopping the horse before it succeeded in running away.

WEBSTER SPEAKS OF TRIP.

WELL KNOWN ATTORNEY TELLS ABOUT HIS VISIT TO SA-MOAN ISLANDS.

Attorney E. J. Webster, a former resident of Oakland, who has been a resident of Spokane, Washington, for the past twenty-two years, is now on a return trip from Michigan and other Eastern States, where he has been visiting relatives and friends. In speaking of his trip, Mr. Webster said:

"I stopped at the St. Louis Exposition ten days. After having visited the World's Fair at Chicago, eleven years before, I freely confess that this is the greatest Exposition the world has ever given."

"Through there but ten days, I enjoyed every moment of my stay. I stood at the inside rim, the most central point on the ground, and was connected by auto and the interurban road to every part of the fair."

"I said for the Hawaiian Islands on board the Ventura company steamer at Honolulu one day. I wintered there three years ago and made many friends. I will then go on to the Samoan Islands, arriving first at Pago Pago, remaining at the Samoan group forty-two days, where I hope to make a study of Samoan life and enjoy the climate, which is the finest in the world. There, I will take a side trip to the Fijian Islands for two weeks, returning to Pago Pago. I will then go on to Auckland, New Zealand, where I will remain twenty-one days. There I hope to visit the Hot Lake region and wonderland of that country. From there I will go on to Sydney, Australia, hoping to visit Australia, before going on my way back to the States by the other way overland, making a month's stay in Australia. Returning to Auckland, where I stop one week, I will take another trip to Tahiti, and will remain there a couple of weeks. This is said to be the most charming of all the South Sea Islands. I have a drive of sixty miles across the island on the sea coast, the most beautiful and picturesque of any place in the world of the same distance. I expect to return to San Francisco by the Maipo, arriving March 25 next."

This is but one of the many wintering trips I have taken for the last seven years, visiting Mexico, Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China, Manila, and also, last winter, the West Indies. I visited nineteen islands of the West Indies, all except one the San Domingo. I spent two weeks at Barbados, two at Trinidad, two in Jamaica, two in Cuba, two in Mexico and two weeks in Lower California. Next year I shall take a trip, commencing where I left off two years ago at Hongkong. I shall go on to Singapore, from which place I will visit Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Buitani and Siam, spending at least a month in those countries. Then on to Calcutta, spending a month in India, thence on to the Red Sea, Egypt and the Holy Land. I will take a trip up the Nile to the Pyramids, etc. and expect also to spend at least two weeks in the city of Rome, visiting many places along the shores of the Mediterranean, returning by way of New York."

"My ultimate object is, after having studied the principal countries of the world, to deliver lectures on the same, buying some day to have the pleasure of lecturing in Oakland, my former home."

MAPS CAPTURED BY JAPS.

ARMY AT THE FRONT.

OCTOBER 17, Via Fusan, October 19.—(Add dispatch timed 3 p. m.)—Maps captured by the Japanese show that the Russians had arranged for a series of retreats and these maps indicated where stands were to be made.

This account for the slowness of the advance of the Japanese and their failure to cut off the Russian retreat, which was conducted with great skill. Ravines and gulleys met with by the Japanese obstructed the advance. The cavalry on the left crossed the Hun river and prevented a Russian flanking movement.

TOKIO, October 19, 4 p. m.—Mansion headquarters, telegraphing yesterday afternoon says:

"The conditions in front of the main strength of the right army show no considerable change. The forces of the enemy which have been driven from Bensihu mainly retreated toward Kachai pass. The enemy's force in front of the right army appears to be diminishing but the activity of his small forces continues."

"There has been no considerable change in front of the center army. The enemy tried several attacks on the night of October 17, but was repulsed every time. Today only an artillery duel is in progress."

"The enemy in front of the left army is occasionally but indirectly shelling our positions at a distance of from 600 to 1000 metres and is fortifying his positions. The enemy that opposed the left detachment of our left army has halted at a line embracing Meng-tapao, Sanchiatzu and Hsi-chiatzi and is fortifying his positions."

FIGHTS FOR HIS CHILDREN

FATHER SEEKS TO HAVE THEM
TAKEN FROM DIVORCED WIFE'S HUSBAND.

What promises to be an interesting legal fight over the possession of two children came up this morning before Judge Hall upon a petition or writ of habeas corpus sued out by John Sorenson, a contractor of Fruitvale, who, after six years, would take his two children, Peter and Lila away from Richard P. Sorenson, whom their mother afterwards married, after having been granted a divorce from her first husband.

John Sorenson and his wife were divorced some seven years ago. She was given the custody of the two children, and after a time married a second husband of the same proper name. For six years the stepfather cared for the two children as if they had been his own. A few weeks ago the mother died and Sorenson then went before Judge Coffey in San Francisco and was appointed the children's legal guardian.

Yesterday the real father of the children took the matter up and retained Attorney Rhebart to sue out a writ of habeas corpus, alleging that he was the real father and that he was being retained from the custody of his two children. The writ was issued and this morning the matter was heard, but owing to the action already taken by the mother by Judge Coffey in having appointed the stepfather the legal guardian of the children, Judge Hall held that he had no right to go behind his action, as it was to be presumed that the father had had his day in court at the time the guardianship matter had been heard. This, however, it was acknowledged by Attorney Clinton Dodge, had not been done and steps are now to be taken to have Judge Coffey reconsider his order and allow the father to come in and make a fight for his children.

Upon this point Judge Hall had the following to say:

"This is a peculiar case, inasmuch as it presents a rather peculiar state of affairs. A father has been appointed the legal guardian of two children, and the father was not notified of the proceeding nor was he in court, nor given an opportunity to make a showing in the case. I, however, can do nothing in the matter as a writ of habeas corpus is not the proper remedy. That lies with the court that made the first order. Upon the face of things the stepfather has the legal custody of the children and it is not for this court to go behind that. It is to be presumed that the father has his day in the matter, and notwithstanding the admission of his attorney that he did not, I have not the right to take it into consideration."

The boy in the case is the present time in the custody of William Fowler, who lives on the Redwood road in Contra Costa county, while the girl is in San Francisco with her stepfather.

WANTS GOOD GUARDS

Prison Directors Recommend Getting Good Men.

SACRAMENTO, October 19.—The State Board of Prison Directors today filed its biennial report with the Governor.

The report submits no figures, although voluminous and comprehensive. The recommendation is made that the Legislature make sufficient appropriation for the support of San Quentin without regard to the receipts from the sale of grain bags. Heretofore it has been the policy of the Legislature to appropriate a certain amount, which, with the money received from selling bags, carries the institution. Reference is made to the shortage of the grain crops this year, with its consequent dearth of straits a public institution may be put when a part of its support is dependent upon the sale of a given commodity. The recommendation is also made that the law fixing the limit as to the number of bags to be sold in a year be amended.

The report states that owing to the advance and increase in wages throughout the United States difficulty has been experienced in securing desirable and trustworthy men to fill the position of guards at the prisons. It is pointed out that the best men cannot be secured to fill these positions at the salary—$50 a month with board and lodging. The board recommends that the salary be increased to an amount which will insure the securing of the services of dependable men.

Attention is called to the fact that under conditions as they exist, the congregated system, where the prisoners are all kept together, is in vogue. This is not in the interest of prison discipline or the reformation of those men sent to make reparation for infractions of the law.

The report states that in the judgment of the directors the $25,000 appropriated by the last Legislature will not construct such a building at Folsom as the board desires; nevertheless, the building will be constructed.

The report points out that while there are 1500 prisoners at San Quentin, there are only 600 cells in which to keep them and the recommendation is made that new buildings for the housing of the convicts be constructed at that place.

The hearing of the suit of E. Holdaway & Co., against the estate of the late Josephine Dunsmuir for the recovery of money for $30,000 worth of books was continued to-day before Judge Ellsworth. Among them were many sets of limited editions, with the monogram of the deceased on the cover and upon the leaves of the books.

Ida J. Breen was granted a final decree of divorce today from John M. Breen on the ground of extreme cruelty. She was granted a divorce a year ago and is now entitled to an absolute decree.

WOMEN VIGILANTES DEFY THE POLICE.

Women of Chicago Say the Authorities Cannot Give Protection.

CHICAGO, October 19.—The South Chicago police threaten to arrest members of the Women's Vigilance Club if they discharge firearms within the city limits. The women are going ahead with their plans and have sent word to the police that they are incapable of protecting life and property.

"There have been twenty-one burglaries and robberies in our neighborhood in two weeks," said Mrs. L. E. R. Fisher, president of the club.

"The crimes were committed in the day time, when we are alone in our homes. We are determined to arm and stop it. We have purchased pistols and rifles and are practicing every day."

Auxiliary to the rifle club will be a law and order league. But the women say they will depend more upon their rifles to rid the suburb of crime than upon anything else.

Some of them are proving themselves to be remarkably accurate shots.

The Rifle Club and Law and Order League was formed under the leadership of Mrs. George W. Sheppard, wife of ex-Alderman Sheppard. The officers of the organization are: Mrs. Laura E. R. Fisher, president; Mrs. William McGarry, vice-president; Mrs. P. H. Moynihan, wife of Alderman Moynihan, secretary; Mrs. George W. Sheppard, instructor.

GANS NOT FAR FROM WEIGHT

Negro Champion Will Have No Trouble About Flesh.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—There is 'no longer much doubt as to Gans' ability to make the required notch of 133 pounds comfortably. After finishing his road work this morning Gans weighed 136 pounds and there is still much superfluous weight showing around his mid-section.

Gans is working for this mill as he has never worked for another in which he has engaged on this coast. Some argue that the colored lad realizes that in Britt he will meet a hard-hitting willing fighter who will pack him along at a terrific clip and others say that Joe is working particularly hard so as to show the 134-pound mark before the end of the week. In training Gans is a quiet, unassuming boxer. He goes about his work quietly and when spoken to he only nods pleasantly, but scarcely stops to answer or join in a conversation.

FLOCKING TO THIS STATE

Forty cars of colonists arrived in San Francisco today, and the travel tomorrow will be as large.

This represents the best of the colonists, as the time for the cheap rate expired in the East on the 15th of this month.

In round figures the passenger department of the Southern Pacific says that over their lines and the Santa Fe something like 10,000 people came into the State during the month that the colonist rate was in existence.

These people are pretty well dispersed, though it is thought that the southern part of the State has received a goodly number.

There were ten carloads out of here last night bound for Los Angeles, and according to the train agents, they were men with families. Agent Kelley, in speaking about them, said:

"They looked to me like bona fide settlers. From what they said they had no intention of returning to the East and believe that this State is the only place where a man can live with any degree of comfort."

INJURED AT ROYAL FUNERAL

PARIS, October 19.—The Temps correspondent at Madrid telegraphs that a panic occurred when a crowd, numbering 60,000 persons was admitted to the royal chapel of the palace yesterday to view the remains of the Princess of the Asturias. Women and children were trampled under foot. The palace guards made several charges against the crowd, finally gaining the mastery and driving it back. A number of people were injured.

TALKS ON NEGRO WOMEN.

DEE MOINES, Ia., October 19.—Before a meeting of the National Congressional Council today Mrs. Foster T. Washington, speaking of the educational work among the colored women, said they owed a debt of gratitude to the American Missionary Association and its numerous auxiliaries, and declared that the advance of the women of the black race of America is assured.

William F. Slocum, D. C., of Colorado, spoke of the work being done by the colleges of the West, and said if their influence was taken out of the life of the Middle West the history of the country would be vastly changed for the worse.

"The reaction today," he said, "is towards the local course."

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The aged father of Nan Patterson, the woman who is in the Tombs awaiting trial on the charge of murdering Caesar Young, the bookmaker, has been unable to raise the $20,000 bonds demanded for his daughter's release from jail.

District Attorney Jerome has promised to have the case called for trial in November. Miss Patterson is almost a nervous wreck from her long incarceration. She is much encouraged over the promise of an early trial, as she believes she will be acquitted with very little delay.

CHURCH REPORTS ON LABOR

Bishop Potter Tells of Labor Union Organizations.

BOSTON, October 19.—Both houses of the Episcopal general convention which was opened on October 5, have voted in favor of final adjournment Tuesday next.

In the House of Bishops, the standing committee on the relations of capital and labor, of which Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York is chairman, presented its report. The committee was appointed in 1901 to study the conditions of labor organization, to investigate the causes of industrial disturbances and to hold themselves in readiness to act as arbitrators should their services be desired.

Formerly her vivid brunette beauty and spirited charm were much admired in the Henderson and other productions. Eight years ago, when she sang duets with Charlie Reed in "Hoss and Hoss" at the California Theater, the case comes up on Saturday in the courts of Marin county, where the Kohns have resided. Mrs. Kohn is spending the interim at her flat on Golden Gate avenue, and when the legal formalities are over she will probably go to New York.

THREATS BREAK UP HOME

Master Painter Had Too Much Gloom for Wife.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—The intense gloomy disposition and general murderous threats of Tom Forde made life with him a living hell and misery of Mrs. Ada E. Forde, and yesterday her prayer for divorce was granted by Judge Hebbard with $10 a month alimony.

The charge set forth in the complaint is cruelty and this consisted principally in gloomy remarks to his wife and 11-year-old daughter. He once said to the little girl: "You won't see our papa any more. I suppose you could like to see your papa laid out in a coffin." Again he returned to the house late one night and was heard to charge at a door, remarking moodily: "This will soon be over."

Another of his cheerful sayings which is quoted in the complaint is: "This won't last much longer. It will only take a minute. It will be one, two, three, and we'll go off in a bunch." Another time he grabbed his wife by the throat and told her he would give her fifteen minutes to decide what she would do, and when she threatened to scream for help he said: "You will, will you? If you do there will be two laid out on the floor."

Judge Murasky yesterday granted a decree of annulment to Mary Griffith from Henry C. Darby Griffith. "I have been married in Lake City, Colo., in 1885, but she discovered that he had a former wife still living whereupon she left him, suing for annulment."

Judge Kerigan granted a divorce to Harrison Tuttle from Nellie Tuttle for willful desertion, and Judge Hebbard annulled the marriage of George C. and George Combers on the ground that her consent had been obtained by fraud.

Two suits in maintenance without divorce were filed yesterday. Leontine Weber asks the courts to compel Albert Weber, a master painter, to a low himself and her two children $75 a month alimony, while Edna P. Collins seeks $100 a month along with $50 a month from the estate of a deceased husband.

Ermilanda Francesconi yesterday sued Lorenzo Francesconi for divorce on the ground that he had failed to provide for the support of herself and her child.

WYMAN HELD TO ANSWER.

The order holding Charles Wyman for trial in the Superior Court was made by Judge Canby late yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the preliminary examination. Attorney Countryman argued for a dismissal, declaring that the prosecution of Wyman involved violations of both the Federal and the State Constitution. He took several shots at the primary issue, all of them poorly aimed, and concluded by attacking the testimony of Fairfax H. Wheelan, the complaining witness.

BOY IS HELD IN JAIL.

NO COMPLAINT HAS BEEN LOGGED AGAINST EDDIE HARLAND.

The case of Eddie Harland, the twelve-year-old son of Josephine Harland, a boarding-house keeper, who has been confined for more than a week while the authorities of the Associated Charities are trying to make up their mind as to what should be done with the boy, has been called to the attention of the court and today Deputy District Attorney Brown called the attention of juvenile Officer Ezra Decoto to the matter and asked him to try and hurry the case.

The boy is being so far treated and at the present time is being held without law or warrant. There is no complaint filed against him and it is very doubtful whether he has done anything that could be construed into a crime.

JEALOUSY DRIVES WIFE TO STAGE.

Beautiful Stella Kohn Sues Husband For an Absolute Divorce.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—Having renounced the stage for matrimony and found it unprofitable, Mrs. Stella Kohn will now renounce matrimony for the stage. After eight years of married life with Philip Kohn, who is now connected with the California Theater, Mrs. Kohn has decided that true happiness lies over the footlights and she has sued her husband for divorce.

The case comes up on Saturday in the courts of Marin county, where the Kohns have resided. Mrs. Kohn is spending the interim at her flat on Golden Gate avenue, and when the legal formalities are over she will probably go to New York.

Formerly her vivid brunette beauty and spirited charm were much admired in the Henderson and other productions. Eight years ago, when she sang duets with Charlie Reed in "Hoss and Hoss" at the California Theater, the case comes up on Saturday in the courts of Marin county, where the Kohns have resided. Mrs. Kohn is spending the interim at her flat on Golden Gate avenue, and when the legal formalities are over she will probably go to New York.

WYMAN HAS NIGHT IN JAIL

Alleged Ballot Stuffer Gets First Taste of Prison.

Charles Wyman, looking uncommonly serious after a night in jail, was brought into the presence of Judge Cook this morning by Detective Ed Gibson. The defenders of ballot-box stuffing, forced to a change of tactics by the decision of Police Judge Canby in holding Wyman for trial in the Superior Court, had resorted to habeas corpus proceedings, and Attorney R. H. Countryman was on hand to look after the interests of the captured minute-man, so called because he is of the kind that vote every minute when they are not watched.

Robert Ferral represented the District Attorney's office and John A. Hosmer and George T. Knight were also present. The former a special prosecutor retained by the Merchants' Association, and the latter the regular attorney of that organization.

Attorney Countryman announced that the hearing could not go on until the testimony taken in the lower court had all been transcribed. That could not be done this week, he said, and he is going to start for Douglas county on next Sunday to take part in the trial of a case that will last five or six days.

JUDGE COOK WARNS DEFENSE.

Judge Cook warned the defense that he would not consider any of the points ruled upon by Judge Sloss in the former habeas corpus proceedings, and that the hearing in this court must be confined to other matters.

WYMAN SPENDS NIGHT IN JAIL.

Although he was arrested several weeks ago, Wyman spent no time in a cell until last night. That confinement was all owing to the ruling of Judge Cook that in habeas corpus proceedings defendants must be brought before him before they can be admitted to bail. Such a ruling was not expected by the conspirators, and Wyman was not present when his attorney applied for a writ. Maestretti visited him in jail and urged him to be cheerful. This morning Wyman was looking out through the bars when Detective Gibson came to take him to court.

After the hearing the anxious prisoner was assured that he would be released on bail before night.

An Example For Politicians.

Former Senator Matt W. Ransom of North Carolina, who died recently, has given an example of what a retired politician can do. Ransom was active in politics before the Civil War, and during that struggle was a brigadier general in the Confederate army. After the war he served twenty-three years in the United States Senate, and then for two years subsequent to his defeat for the Senate by the Populist upheaval was Minister to Mexico. When nearly 70 years of age he found himself out of politics, out of a job, and poor. He began farming on an extensive scale at a period of returning prosperity, buying land and increasing his field acreage from year to year. At the time of his death he was one of the largest landowners in the State and left a fortune in excess of $250,000. Had he devoted himself all his life to business pursuits he would doubtless have amassed a great fortune. As a rule the clean man in politics dies poor, and often after devoting the best years of his life to the public service is turned out of office to make room for an inferior man with a less nice regard for official responsibility and personal integrity. Senator Hoar gave his whole life to his country and at death left a mere pittance. But he possessed something while living that no man of millions in the Senate was ever able to obtain. If he did not own millions it is certain millions did not own him. Money could neither buy, influence nor intimidate him. Senator Ransom's poverty on leaving the Senate was more honorable to him than the fortune he achieved afterward, though that is a testimony to his industry and capacity which must not be underestimated.

The Democrats are having bad luck with their orators. Champ Clark had to be called out of Indiana where his intemperate speeches were making votes for Roosevelt. Tillman had to be called off for talking like a madman in the Chicago stock-yards, Bourke Cochran had to be muzzled for shouting for free trade, Onley was repudiated for denouncing the Spanish war and the New York World demands that Bryan be silenced for preaching free silver. This shows the harmony that prevails in the Democratic band.

Why Parker Cannot Win.

The New York Herald gives it up and acknowledges the corn three weeks before election. It admits that Parker has no chance because the "country is prosperous." Reason enough to be sure, and one that the voters appreciate. The Republicans have continuously pointed to the Nation's prosperity as an evidence that they have governed wisely and well. The Democrats undertook to dispute what everybody knew to be a fact. They set up the preposterous contention have nothing but by-unders has been committed since March 4, 1897, ignoring the fact that the Republicans took the reins of power when the National treasury was bankrupt and commerce and industry paralyzed. Since McKinley's accession to the Presidency in 1897 the country has enjoyed the greatest prosperity it has ever known. That prosperity continues. Why should it be disturbed? What reason is there of inviting a return to the conditions which existed from 1892 to 1897?

Of course Parker will be defeated because the country is prosperous. That is all there is to it in this campaign.

Professors Howison and Moses.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that it has made a sad mistake. It has credited Professor Bernard Moses with an utterance that really came from Professor Howison. The distinction is immaterial to the public, but it is of vast importance to the learned gentlemen concerned. It was Professor Howison who expressed the opinion that reporters are "lost souls." Professor Moses thinks Professor Howison is a lost soul, while it is popularly understood in Berkeley that Professor Howison is convinced Professor Moses has no soul to lose. It is a small matter either way, but in the interests of truth we desire to correct our unfortunate misstatement. In a properly chastened spirit, we therefore apologize to Professor Moses and offer reparation to Professor Howison. Nothing should be subtracted from or added to either of these beacons of light on the pathway to Higher Culture. As they are they stand without peers or equals—matchless, unapproachable, perfect! Mighty Howison! Holy Moses!

One Cause of Labor Troubles.

One of the problems that trades unionism has to face in its own ranks is illustrated by the conviction of Philip Weinsheimer, the successors to the notorious Sam Parks, of extortion. Parks, who was a dictator in the New York building trades, was sent to Sing Sing for a similar offense and died there. He made trouble between contractors and their employes purposely to get an opportunity to graft and blackmail. He sold to some employes the right to violate union rules, and in various ways made his organization an instrument of graft and oppression. His successor seems to have followed in his footsteps. The exposure and imprisonment of such men purifies unionism itself and removes one of the greatest causes of irritation in the labor world—the false and dishonest labor leader who thrives on the strife he creates and who provokes strife that he may fatten on blackmail. Men like Parks sell their unions out in politics and are ready instruments of those who are willing to pay for the use of political machinery in furtherance of their ends. By taking men like Parks and Weinsheimer for leaders the labor unions commit themselves to disturbance and conflict in the industrial field and to the cause of evil in politics. San Francisco is a striking object lesson in this latter respect. Unionism and good government there have both been betrayed in the house of their professed friends.

Republicans and Others.

The Democratic papers are calling Thomas E. Watson, the Populist candidate for President, an "assistant Republican." In 1896 the same papers called Palmer and Buckner "assistant Republicans."

All the difference is that the boot is on the other leg. Beyond question Tom Watson stands far more for what Bryan did in 1896 and 1900 than Parker does. If the Democratic party was right then Watson is right now. If Watson is wrong to-day Palmer and Buckner, from the Democratic standpoint, were right in 1896.

Judge Parker has taken up the leadership of Palmer and Buckner, not that of William J. Bryan. He represents the policies and tendencies which were repudiated and denounced at Chicago in 1896 and at Kansas City in 1900. The man who believes in the doctrines represented by Bryan cannot subscribe to the doctrines for which Judge Parker stands nor the leadership his candidacy typifies.

It is useless to blame Tom Watson, for staying on the side of the chasm which rent the Democratic party during Cleveland's last administration. Bryan has crossed it for policy's sake, but in doing so he has sacrificed his consistency and his claim to fidelity to principle. While Parker himself voted for Bryan, the Democrats whose representative he is either voted for Palmer and Buckner or for McKinley. The great majority of them voted for McKinley. Parker was placed in nomination at St. Louis by a man who cast his ballot for McKinley in 1896. His chief supporters and financial backers are men who refused to endorse Bryan at the polls.

A few years ago these men were calling Bryan a Populist and Bryan was calling them assistant Republicans. Tom Watson is standing where Bryan stood in 1896 and the "assistant Republicans" of that year are now calling him an "assistant Republican." It is all a question of whose ox is gored.

The fact that stands out in this recrimination is that the Democratic party has shifted its ground and changed front while the Republican party stands precisely where it stood eight years ago—against free trade and free silver. Whether those heresies are separated or combined, they are to be combated and overthrown, and the Republican party is the only political organization in the country pledged in opposition. It is opposed to free trade silverites and free trade gold bugs alike. It is the champion of sound money and American industry.

TOLD BY THE LAWYERS.

"The Wrong Baby." "Francis Van Wyck and his wife were a worthy Dutch couple who lived in a Pennsylvania town where I was temporarily engaged in some legal business," said Lawyer John M. Grimes. "A boy was born to Mrs. Van Wyck. The infant, however, was such a tiny mite of humanity that he had to be taken to the local hospital and placed in an incubator.

"In front of each compartment which contained a baby there hung a card bearing the name of the child and its parents, with the date of its birth and other particulars. However, the incubator needed some repairs or alterations and the workmen, in making them, accidentally shifted the identification cards.

"When the time came to return the Van Wyck baby to its anxious mother great was the amazement in the Van Wyck household. It had sent a boy; the hospital authorities sent back a girl.

"A council of war was held, some of the neighbors and the family physician being called in to assist in the deliberations. After much heated debate the poor little baby girl was sent back to the hospital.

"This is not my child," declared Mrs. Van Wyck. "If it is, you must incubate it back into a boy."

"The combined science of the hospital faculty declared the utter inability of the machine to accomplish any such result. A further investigation was instituted, at which I was professionally present. One after another the white-capped nurses denied all resemblance to the child, and finally the hospital board, in making their report, gave no information as to the changing of the identification cards or the shifting of the babies. Some of the latter had been sent home, some had died. There was no change in the little girl that the Van Wycks had repudiated. There was no strawberry or other mark to identify the Van Wyck boy, who was completely lost in the shuffle.

"When the Van Wycks in grief and anger brought suit for the loss of their child, the defendant they selected being the mayor of the town, who was ex-officio a member and president of the hospital board. In vain that troubled official tried to gildate and console them.

"My good people," he pleaded, "why not take this fine little baby girl as your own? Child care is good for boys any day; indeed, many people prefer them to boys."

"But many people don't," retorted Mrs. Van Wyck, and if your incubator can't do a better job than change boys into girls you ought to change it for some other kind."

"In the damage suit that followed the Van Wycks succeeded in getting a verdict against the mayor for $1500.

TOLD OF CELEBRITIES.

It is said that the last words of the late Emperor of the German Empire, Emperor and the late chancellor, Prince Bismarck, were spoken in English. When the rupture between the two appeared to be final, Bismarck went to the palace to resign his seals of office. The supreme moment arrived, and the chancellor thought that by tact and consummate diplomacy he might even yet succeed in bending "that young man" as he afterwards bitterly called him, to his iron will. But his art and his eloquence were in vain. The sovereign and his minister had, of course, conversed in German. But when all was over, Bismarck said in a changed voice and in English: "Then I am in your way, sir?" And the German Emperor answered in one word: "Yes."

Count von Bulow is a brilliant talker, and he is perhaps in his best form on a summer night when sitting on the terrace of his villa facing the North Sea. Unlike many of his countrymen, the Count is no friend of alcoholic liquors. "Alcohol," he once observed, "has killed incomparably more men than have the ravages of war." This remark, which was supported by statistics, directed the conversation to the drinking habits of the German students. "The students of every nation," philosophically observed the chancellor, "have their hobbies. The German students love Bacchus, the French student worships Venus, the British student sport, and the Italian politics, while the Russian student darts with dynamite."

Baron von Trede has been recounting an incident of his last visit to Ireland. He had just arrived at the station in Dublin from London and was about to enter a cab when a strange man asked for a "tip" to bring the manager's luck. "Get rid of him," said Mr. Trede, "I gave him a shilling." "Ah! Mr. Trede," said the man, "I thought you would make it four." "But why four?" "Well, when Sir Henry was here, sir, he gave me a shilling, and you know as good an actor as him—in yer own estimation," he added, loudly, as Mr. Trede drove away oblivious to further largess.

A RAND RAT'S EXPLOITS.

"There were a lot of rats in the storage room of my stable," writes a citizen of Johannesburg, South Africa, "and we had a great difficulty in getting rid of them. They were shy of all traps, and did a tremendous lot of damage at night, lying quiet all day. At length I put in the room a square tin-lined box, about two feet deep, and in it placed some burned cheese. The rats immediately got interested in the cheese, climbed up the outside of the box, and having got inside, could not ascend the slippery lining. In this way we killed a great many."

"One morning my children took a cat, who was a very good rat-ter, and placed it in the box, where there was already a good-sized rat. The cat, instead of killing the rat, appeared to make friends with it. They put their noses together and frisked round, but no harm was done and eventually the cat jumped out, refusing to tackle the rat."

"The children then put in a keen dash which immediately snapped at the rat and missed it. The rat ran around the box two or three times, dodging cleverly, and eventually, by climbing on the dog's back, admirably jumped out of the box and escaped."

AN AGED MAN IS MISSING.

Had Sum of Gold in Pocket When He Disappeared.

Known to have at least $100 in gold on his person. Deane Bruce, brother-in-law of the Proprietor Meyer of the Arlington Hotel Ninth and Washington streets, has mysteriously disappeared, and his friends fear that he may have met with foul play.

The missing man is about seventy-two years of age, remarkably tall, being over six feet four inches in height, has gray hair and beard and was dressed in an ordinary suit of clothes. He has been missing from his usual haunts since October 10. Just previous to that date his sister, Mrs. Henry Meyer, intended to go East and Bruce was to accompany her. He drew at least $100 from the bank and then changed his mind about the Eastern trip. Then he disappeared, his money

SKIN DISEASES

Altoona, Pa., June 20, 1903.
I was afflicted with Itch in bad shape. It would appear in blotches as large as my hand, a yellowish color, and scale off. You can imagine how offensive it was. For twelve years I was afflicted with this trouble. At night it was a case of scratch and many times no rest at all. Seeing the good the medicine was doing a friend was taking it for Itch. I commenced it, and as a result the eruption began to dry up and disappear, and to day I am practically a well man. Only two tiny spots are left on the elbow and shin, where once the whole body was affected. I have every confidence in the medicine, and feel sure that in a short time these two remaining spots will disappear. S. S. S. is certainly a great blood purifier, and has done me a world of good. I am grateful for what it has accomplished, and trust that what I have said will lead others who are similarly afflicted to take the remedy and obtain the same good results that I have.
125 East Fifth Ave. JOHN F. LEAR

While washes, soaps, salves and powder relieve temporarily, they do not reach the real cause of the disease. The blood must be purified before the cure is permanent. S. S. S. contains no potash, arsenic or mercury of any description, but is guaranteed purely vegetable. Send for our book on the skin and diseases which it cures. Our physicians will cheerfully advise without charge. Any who write us about the cure.

ORIGIN OF THE THERMOMETER
According to Sir Samuel Wilkes, 1st baronet, Captain of the thermometer, from one made many years before it is now used. In the transaction of the Royal Society for 1701 will be found the origin of the thermometer. It was invented by Daniel Fahrenheit, a Dutchman, who was born in 1686. He invented a thermometer by using a tube and filling it with alcohol. On his mark, the thermometer was put on his wall. He used the number 1 to denote the heat of the body and made it the starting point of his scale both upward and downward.

It was some time after that for convenience sake the degrees were divided into two and the body heat was 1 above zero and boiling point 58. When many years afterward Fahrenheit made his instrument and used mercury instead of alcohol, which was far more convenient, he again divided these degrees into four, so that the number be multiplied accordingly, we have 212° on the boiling point and 96° for the body heat. Fahrenheit found that he could get a lower temperature than freezing made this point zero which brought the number 5 of Newton to 32 of Fahrenheit. In this way the thermometer was constructed and the scale is as yet the most interesting as having been made by our own great philosopher and founded on the basis of the heat of the human body.

TUNKANTEL
I love you more than tongue can tell,
The words I say to you in my ears
I heard them first when I was small
A little girl of some three years

I love you more than tongue can tell,
The words seem so sweet but strange to me
I wonder in my baby way
When this dear Tunkantel could be

I love you more than tongue can tell,
You see I did not understand
But pictured Tunkantel a prince
Some lovely prince of fairy land—

A prince whom everyone adored
And sweetheart I remember well
How you said he seemed to me—
His Royal Highness Tunkantel

About this prince beloved by all
Long fairy tales I used to weave
And sometimes almost thought them true—
I played so much at "make believe"

For on this charming fairy prince
My baby fancy loved to dwell
But dear he has a rival now
I love you more than Tunkantel

WOMAN PRISONER IS ROBBED

ALLEGES WAITER TOOK SMALL SUM OF MONEY FROM HER

William Nicholson, until recently a waiter in Matrick's Hotel, was arrested this morning by Day Jail Curtis and booked at the city prison on a charge of misdemeanor embezzlement. It is alleged of having stolen several dollars from Mary Loney, who is at present serving a sentence in the city prison on a misdemeanor embezzlement. He is also several days ago Nicholson while working as a waiter was called to the city prison to serve a twenty-five cent fine for his Loney. In payment he was given a dollar from the woman prisoner's funds and instructed to return with the change. It is said that he failed to do so and when Jailor Curtis went in search of him he found that he had been discharged by Proprietor Matrick for some other offense. When arrested this morning Nicholson was making his way toward the City Hall but as he only had sixty-five cents in his pocket Jailor Curtis does not believe that he was seeking to make the delayed change for the fine.

THE ANGELS MAKE THE MOST MISTAKES STILL THEY WIN.

Errors were eaten by the Angels yesterday, still they won an easy victory from the Seattle people. The blackboard and the official scorer agreed that the contest resulted: Los Angeles 9, Seattle 3. Errors were the feature of yesterday's game. The heavenly ones made seven and won, while the Si washes made six and lost. The fat error column does not always belong to the losers. Seattle made holding errors, errors of judgment and Umpire McDonald also made his pile of errors. Boyle made his debut into professional pitching society yesterday by occupying the raised station for Seattle. He did very well despite what the score says. "Good-bye Dolly" Gray delivered the pitching provisions for the Angels. Summary:

NEW YORK CLUB SUSPENDS
MEMBER FOR MAKING A ROAD RECORD.

NEW YORK, October 19.—A decided stand against record-breaking runs over public highways has been taken by the Automobile Club of America. The board of directors of that organization has it understood, indefinitely suspended a well known local automobilist who established a record in June last between Boston and New York, negotiating 245 miles in six hours, 35 minutes. "I will remain in the club only so long as I am treated as a member of the Automobile Club, but he is debarred from track or road competition in this country, or in any other country the National Automobile organization of which has established relations with the American club. Summary action was taken when it became known that plans were being made by the same man to attempt another record run with a car of much higher power.

Promises were made by the club last winter before a committee of the New York Legislature that if fair treatment were accorded by legislation then pending the club would do its utmost to discourage such reckless driving. Although several record runs have been made the case in question was the only one which could be officially proved.

SOME BRITT-GANS TALK.

Now that the permit for the championship mill between Gans and Britt is assured, the public is commencing to figure the relative merits of the two wonderful boxers. Neither Gans nor boxer has his adherents, but there is one point about the coming battle upon which nearly everybody agrees and that is that they will furnish one of the most exciting contests ever put up between two rival pugilists within the roped enclosure.

Already Matchmaker Coffroth is receiving large orders for seat reservations from out of town sports and the local interest in the big mill is intense. Over at Billy Shannon's villa Gans is working heroically taking off weight. When some wise sport quizzes Joe as to his ability to make the required weight the Baltimore fighting machine looks out of the corner of his eye and wins a knowing wink. Those who are close to the light-weight champion and his manager, Al Hereford, say that Gans will make the weight easily. It is said by those who know that during the time that Gans was waiting for Walcott to arrive on the coast he busied himself testing his weight. After his fight with Jimmy Gardner was postponed last month Gans still kept up his road work and people close to Hereford say that Joe not only came near the thirty-three-pound mark but actually tipped the scales at the notch and felt like a spring chicken.

Jimmy Britt is not banking on having any advantage on the weight provisions. "I am satisfied that Gans will be as strong at the weight as he is at any other," he says, "he will not weigh a pound more than I do and I think I can beat any man who weighs it too. There has been so much talk during the last two years about Gans being his master that he wants to find out if he really is."

IT has finally been settled that only two attendants will be allowed from a party of horses on the road west of Chicago. Formerly the custom was to allow five. A new order was put into effect before the California shipments began, reducing the number of free attendants to two. A fight was made by the horsemen and the Eastern companies and the order was rescinded, but has again been put into effect.

INSTEAD OF FIVE ATTENDANTS,

MANY ATTEND
ST. PATRICK'S BAZAAR

St. Patrick's parish fair, which is being held in the auditorium of the church in West Oakland, is having a liberal patronage, and quite a sum will be realized when the festivities are concluded. Each evening of the fair so far the ball has been rocking as lively. Although it is a very small affair, the success of the bazaar.

THE laurels of victory and Britt will depend on his aggressive bulldog style in the ring coupled with his wonderful stomach blow.

All in all the two champions should put up a battle that will go down in the history as one of the greatest events ever pulled off in the roped enclosure. Should Britt lose he will still be the feather-weight champion and entitled to meet Young Corbett and others for the title. Should Jimmy be successful he will be both the light and featherweight champion of the world.

"There is much bitterness between the two men on account of the long debate over the color question. Britt stuck true to the color line until public opinion forced him into Gans' jungle and now that Jimmy is there he may be depended upon to put up the fight of his life to emerge with flying colors. The promoters are already waging on the size of the house. Judging from the interest taken in the mill the receipts promise to go away ahead of the four thousand-dollar mark.

In speaking of the coming fight, Willie Britt, manager of his fighting brother, said: "Jimmy is up against a tough proposition but he will get over the hurdle all right. When he was matched to fight Young Corbett last March the people said he didn't have a chance. But he won all right. Gans is a clever fellow, but he won't weigh more than Jimmy and if there is anybody in the world who can beat him at thirty-three we want to know it. Should Gans win, Jimmy will never fight another heavy man. He can do it nicely and should be fighting fellows like Hanlon, McGovern and Corbett instead of big men like Gans. But the public wanted this match and now they have it. And I don't mind saying that the thing was a good one and take care not to touch the skin with it, for it will produce blisters."

JACK JOHNSON, WHO CHALLENGES JAMES J. JEFFRIES TO A FIGHT FOR THE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD.

Will James Jeffries, like Jimmy Britt—both champions in their respective classes—forget about that color line and agree to fight Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world?

This is the question being put and discussed about sporting headquarters today. Since Johnson put "Denver Ed" Martin down and out in a whirlwind battle lasting less than two rounds at Los Angeles last night, the colored fighter's name and that of Jim Jeffries has been on the tip of nearly every sporting man's tongue.

From Los Angeles comes the word that Johnson's manager is to issue a formal challenge in behalf of Johnson to at once fight for the championship title. The Century Athletic Club of Los Angeles would like to get such a battle and already has offered $15,000 in cold cash for the match to take place some time this winter.

No one questions the fact that Johnson last night showed to the best possible advantage in order that he might claim with some degree of justice a match with Jeffries. Martin is considerably heavier than Johnson, but the limber fighter had some terrific blows hidden in his arms and "Denver Ed" sank several times during the short battle before he finally had to remain down for the count.

CORBETT-WHITE SPROTT GOES
FIGHT HERE TO STANFORD.

AFTER A LONG CONFERENCE, BATTLE IS BROUGHT ACROSS POND.

As the result of a conference held in New York last night and which lasted into the early hours of this morning, "Young Corbett" and White, the English champion, will meet on this side of the pond instead of in London, as was at first announced. Forfeits for the match were posted today. It was "Young Corbett" who brought the battle to this side of the water. He declared that he could see no reason why the bout should be held in London when more money could be gained by fighting in America, and finally, after a lengthy discussion, Charles Mitchell, who represents White, came round to the same way of thinking. The battle will be awarded to the club offering the best inducements. The little fellows will also fight for a $5000 side bet.

When staining a floor remember to work along the grain of the wood, never across it. A good oak stain is made by putting two ounces each of potash and pearlash in a quart bottle and filling it with water. Keep well corked. Apply with an old brush, for it will spoil a good one and take care not to touch the skin with it, for it will produce blisters.

SNIPE SHOOTING IS GOOD.

PARTY RETURNS FROM NEWARK
WITH GOOD BAG OF GAME.

Snipe shooting is reported to be good in the vicinity of Newark. A number of sportsmen have been hunting the feathered ones in that neighborhood the past few days and have come home with big bags. Ducks, too, are pretty thick near Newark. A party composed of L. Ligori, Attorney M. W. Simpson, Judge Tappan, and J. Marjorie have returned from the neighborhood of Newark with limit bags of duck and a quantity of snipe.

THOMAS' STRING TO BE SOLD.

ALL WILL BE OFFERED FOR SALE
EXCEPT HERMIS AND STALWART.

The racing string of E. R. Thomas, with the exception of Hermis, Stalwart and the mares which the racing man recently purchased at the Whitney sale will be sold at auction some time within the next fortnight. The Fasig-Tipton Company will handle the sale.

There will no doubt be a change in the racing policy of E. R. Thomas next year. Some of his friends state that he has found the racing game a rather stiff proposition and it is probable that his entries next year will be few but select.

It is also rumored that he will start a breeding farm in Kentucky.

ATHLETIC MEET
SATURDAY.

PACIFIC ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD
CONTEST ON BERKELEY OVAL.

The freshmen and "prep" school boys will have a chance of trying their prowess with the college men in the handicap meet to be given by the Pacific Athletic Association, at Berkeley oval next Saturday.

Among the well-known entries are: A. D. Plaw, winner of the American hammer throw championship this year; Norman E. Dole, who holds the world's pole vault record; Channing Hall, winner of the A. A. U. junior high jump championship this year; John O. Miller, mile champion of the coast, who is attending Stanford University; A. A. Glarner, the French champion runner; Elmo C. Gope, Harvard champion of the Academic Athletic League; Reginald Clifford, the University of California miler, and numerous others.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache, Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

BOATING OFFICERS ARE SORE.

HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO GET THAT CUP FROM WASHINGTON.

The boating association officers of the University of California have of late been rather exercised over the fact that they have made numerous unsuccessful attempts to secure an elegant silver cup from Washington. The cup was put up by a prominent boating man by the name of Colonel Lippy of Seattle. It was offered in the first place to be the permanent prize for the first crew of the two universities that should win two successive regattas.

Two years ago the University crew went north to Washington and was defeated by the northern university. The manner of the defeat, although accepted in the most sportsmanlike manner by the crew, was hardly satisfactory. Be that as it may, however, the Washington crew was given temporary possession of the cup.

Last spring another chapter was added to the story when the Washington crew was defeated by the California crew. The losing club did not, however, bring the silver cup along with it. Nor has it since seen proper to hand it over to the California crew.

The boating association has not wanted to press any claim it may have to the temporary possession of the cup until it has received full knowledge as to the requirements necessary to secure the cup. The officers have, therefore, written numerous letters to the Washington University Boat Club for an explanation, and have not even received an answer. They feel, therefore, that they have hardly been given the consideration due them.

The Washington crew which was defeated last year consisted of Van Kuren, captain; Lantz, Lullier and McElmon, stroke. The rowing team of the California were E. J. Grindley, Jr., bow; G. J. Anloft, 65, forward waist; E. A. Bannister, 64; E. Bunnell, 61, stroke and captain.

THE BUTLER'S TEAM WINS THE FIRST GAME OF THE

He brought joy to the hearts of the Portland people by causing his team to defeat the visiting Seals by a score of 3 to 1. Ham Iberg, who was released by Dugdale and was signed by President Bert, pitched again for the Portland people and showed fine form. Summary:

TO SELECT THE REFEREE

WILLIE BRITT AND AL HEREFORD WILL MAKE THE CHOICE.

On behalf of Jimmy Britt and Joe Gans, Willie Britt and Al Hereford will meet tomorrow night and attempt to settle upon the man who is to be the third person in the ring on the evening of October 31. Willie Britt will hold out for a Pacific Coast referee, while Hereford will insist that he be an Eastern man. On behalf of the club, James Coffroth will urge that Eddie Graney, the Shasta Club's official referee, be selected. And it is stated on the low down that Eddie Graney will be chosen. Before any choice is made, however, a merry war of words is anticipated between Managers Britt and Hereford. They always do have something to say when they get together and little Willie does not always get the worst of the argument. He is about as handy with repartee as his brother Jimmy is with his fists.

CHORUS GIRL IS NOW FREE.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 19.—Claudia Rogers, the pretty chorus girl who was married to R. C. Montgomery in Oakland on April 16, 1901, has, after a month's endeavors, succeeded in having her marriage annulled yesterday. In her complaint she claimed that on the day of her marriage to Montgomery she was just fifteen years and nearly four months old.

QUEER RACE SAY
HORSEMEN.

LOU WOOD WINS FROM BEN CHANCE AND CARAT AT WORTH.

Lou Woods proved quite a surprise at Worth yesterday by winning the third race. Many of the spectators were disgusted at the showing made by Ben Chance and Carat, both of which were heavily backed. Some of them openly declared that neither of the latter horses were meant to win.

Loral King easily won the fourth race. He covered the distance in 1:39 3-5. Brances came up with a rush at the finish and took second place. Subtle and Glenwood took the last two events.

LOU DILLON IS DEFEATED.

MARE HAS THE "THUMPS" AND
MAJOR DELMAR WINS EASILY.

Major Delmar defeated Lou Dillon at Memphis yesterday in straight heats. Most of the spectators acknowledged that the latter did not display her usual form, but no attempt was made to rob Major Delmar of his honors.

E. E. Smith, representing the New York Driving Club, drove the gelding. The winner set the pace in the first heat and the mare never had a chance to catch him. On account of the poor showing of the Billings mare in the first two heats, veterinary surgeons were called to examine Lou Dillon. They found that she was suffering from a case of "bums." Her owner then decided to start her only in order to let Major Delmar finish the course. The last heat was negotiated by Major Delmar in 2:12 1-2.

FOOTBALL GAMES
ARRANGED.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS DECIDE UPON TWO NEW CONTESTS.

The A. S. U. C. executive committee, in session last night, decided upon two new football games not on the schedule formerly arranged. They are a Thanksgiving game with the University of Washington at Seattle and a Christmas game with the Shetland Indians in Los Angeles. These games are not yet absolutely arranged, but will probably be arranged. It is also the plan to have an important game in San Francisco on New Year's day. Not enough has been decided as yet to give the name of the other team, however. The committee also decided to hold L. Koyf and L. E. Milt as coaches for an indefinite time to coach the varsity. Harry Hudson, '04, will also in all probability be here soon to assist in coaching the only team that always gain favor in last year's varsity game with Stanford and will be a valued addition to the coaching force. Negotiations are being made with "Ox" Albertson, '02, to assist in coaching the freshmen.

The committee reported that the receipts of the freshman game will amount to $700 more than any other intercollegiate football contest in the history of the rivalry between Stanford and California. This is taken as a promising omen for future receipts on California field.

A Very Close Call.
"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after taking it I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sick, run down, nervous, always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Cassell Bros., San Francisco, and all druggists and Washington streets. Price 50 cents.

On November 1, 1904, Townsend's California Glace Fruits will be advanced 10 cents a pound. Holiday orders received up to that date at present prices. 718 Market street, San Francisco, Cal.

H. H. KOOSER PASSES AWAY.

BERKELEY, October 19.—The news has been received here of the death in San Jose of H. H. Kooser, the father of Norman H. Kooser, formerly a real estate dealer of this city. The deceased was 79 years of age and crossed the across a small part of the school, most of the land to be taken up by the alley being the land of the Thomas lease. Such's land, which he has donated and Mrs. Basman's property which we can get. We have already guaranteed to pay out $1,500 or $1,600 for the circumventing of the passage-way and would not pretend if the Trustees ordered the alley to go clean through the block. We want the alley so that a man can walk up to the entrances of the Thomas block and the other buildings and carry away refuse or deliver supplies. This has become business property and a rear alley is a vital necessity of a business block."

RED MEN HAVE BANQUET.

ELMHURST TRIBE INITIATES
SEVERAL CANDI-DATES.

ELMHURST, October 12.—I. O. R. M. held its regular session last Monday evening. Most of the members were present and much important business was discussed.

The feature of the evening was the adoption of three pale faces. Speeches were made by prominent Red Men from various tribes in the county and a general social evening was spent. At a late hour a tempting banquet was given for the new 1 members.

Mrs. William Hosttler, an old resident of this section, died at her home on Orange Avenue last Monday evening at 10 o'clock. Funeral services over the remains were conducted from the Presbyterian church today by the Rev. E. E. Clark. Interment was in the Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Hosttler had been suffering for many months from tuberculosis and the end was not entirely unexpected. She leaves two daughters, May and Ella, and her husband, William Hosttler.
